

SUGARHOUSE TAKEOVER

- The suggested name for the rescheduled takeover is:
 - “Quester.” A mix of Queer and Easter.
- This will take place on Saturday 5th March.
- The predrinks will be held in Flyde bar from 9pm.
- Look out for posters on Monday.
- There are expected to be 100 wristbands sold for £1 each.

CANAL STREET TRIP

- Tickets are expected to be £14 once again.
- The coach will be confirmed soon, then tickets will be started to be sold.

HISTORY MONTH

- Women’s forum continues their Facebook posts about LGBTQ+ people, as part of LGBT history month.
- Bailrigg FM
 - The documentary has now been recorded.
 - There are plans for the live discussion to take place on the Saturday.
 - The theme is related to faith, so it would to ask a variety of LGBTQ+ from various faiths to participate. Maybe include some that don’t have a faith either.
- Out in the Bay
 - They had a stall on Tuesday to advertise what they do in the community as well as their future plans.
 - There was an unfortunate mix up with stall bookings that forced them to leave early.

SOCIALS

- Liminal Open Mic Night “Pain and Hope” was a success.
 - There was music as well as talk from the chaplaincy chaplain about commonly used bible verses in homophobic arguments and how they are misinterpreted.

DISCUSSION: INSPIRING LGBTQ+ PEOPLE

- Members were invited to share some LGBTQ+ people whom they thought were inspiring to them.
 - Members of the University community that helped them engage with the association community, and contributions they have made.
 - Figures from the media and musicians that helped to show that there are other people with their identities and to boost visible representation in the media.
 - Members of the family that are stepping out and making a difference in their community.
 - As well as older LGBTQ+ couples in public for visibility in the wider community.
 - It focused on historical transgender people from the UK including names such as James Barry, Stella Boulton, Roberta Cowell and Jan Morris.
 - A reminder that we have Transgender Day of Remembrance, to remember those that have been lost through abuse or suicide.
 - A poignant reminder how important it is that we must continue to strive for equality for transgender people.

ANY OTHER BUSINESS

- Polly Davis
 - Running for VP Welfare and Community.
 - They came in to explain why they're running.
 - They then asked for feedback and suggestions of changes that members would like to see. As well as respond to manifesto points they had made.
- Democratic Review
 - LUSU want to ask members what they think about proposed changes to the SU structure.
 - There will be a feedback session for those that wish to participate.
- LUSU Allocated Storage Space
 - A brief discussion about the limited space the association has to store things.
- Comment about next Trans clothes swap
 - To ensure confidentiality, could there be someone assigned to act as a proxy to redirect people to the event.
